How to Use this Resource Manual

Thank you for using the NVRA Toolkit. Answer the questions below to determine which sections of the Toolkit are right for you.

1. Do you help people

- (a) Fill out applications for benefits or services...
- (b) Recertify benefits or services... or
- (c) Submit a change of address...

...at any of the following programs or in any of the following offices?

- CalFresh
- CalWORKs
- Medi-Cal
- Women, Infants, and Children (WIC)
- In-Home Supportive Services
- Covered California, California's health benefit exchange
- Department of Rehabilitation - Vocational Services
- Independent Living Centers
- Department of Developmental Services Regional Centers
- Offices contracting with the Office of Deaf Access
- State and county mental and behavioral health departments, and private practitioners providing services under contract with those departments.

If so, you have an obligation to provide voter registration to clients under state and federal law. This toolkit will tell you how. Please read all content for agency staff (pages 6-12).

2. Every office subject to the NVRA is required to identify one person who ensures compliance with the office's voter registration responsibilities. Are you that person?

You are an "NVRA coordinator." Please read all the content for agency staff (pages 6-12) and all content for NVRA coordinators (pages 13-19).

3. Do you handle NVRA compliance for your county elections office? Do you handle requests from agencies asking for voter registration cards? Do you prepare reports for the state on voter registration card returns?

You are the NVRA coordinator for the county elections office. Please read all content for elections officials (pages 20-29).

For Agency Staff

When & How to Provide Voter Registration Services

The National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) was passed more than 20 years ago to increase the political participation of populations that have historically been underrepresented in our democracy. When you meet the terms of the NVRA, you are often providing someone the first opportunity of their lifetime to take part in the political process that governs their benefits, their services, and in many ways, their everyday lives.

The NVRA requires you to provide voter registration services every time a person:

- Applies for benefits or services,
- Renews or recertifies benefits or services, or
- Submits a change of name or address.

Voter registration services also apply to remote transactions, such as those conducted by mail, by phone, or by internet. Voter registration services must be provided to adults applying for benefits or services on behalf of a minor.

What does “voter registration services” mean?

During transactions that require voter registration services you need to:

1) Provide the voter preference form.

The voter preference form asks clients if they would like to register to vote, and makes clear that their benefits and services will not be affected by their answer.

Completed voter preference forms must remain on file in your office for two years.

2) Provide the voter registration card.

Offer assistance in filling out the voter registration card unless the client declines to register to vote in writing on the voter preference form. You must provide assistance with registering to vote to the same degree you provide assistance with your agency’s own forms. You must also accept completed voter registration cards and mail them on behalf of the client. Voter registration cards are pre-addressed and postage paid, and should be mailed daily.

- ▶ Your office may be required by law to have voter preference forms and voter registration cards in languages other than English. Ask your office’s NVRA coordinator what your “required” languages are, or consult page 16 of this document. If a client interacts with you in one of the required languages, provide forms in that language.
- ▶ You do not play any role in screening your clients for eligibility to vote. Provide voter registration opportunities to all clients; it is the client’s responsibility to familiarize himself or herself with eligibility criteria, which are on the voter registration card. Additionally, county elections offices work to ensure that only those who are eligible to vote join the voter rolls.

For Agency Staff

If you suspect a client is a non-citizen, you may say, “You must be a United States citizen 18 years of age or older to vote” when handing the client the voter preference form and voter registration card.

Remember that by law you are not allowed to influence clients’ political party preference when providing voter registration assistance. You are also not allowed, by law, to discourage clients from registering to vote. You can, however, encourage clients to register.

Rehabilitation that provide vocational rehabilitation services;

- ▶ Independent Living Centers;
- ▶ Department of Developmental Services Regional Centers;
- ▶ State and county mental health and behavioral health departments and their contractors.

- Armed Forces Recruitment Offices.
- District offices of the Franchise Tax Board and the State Board of Equalization.

NVRA Implementation in California

Offices offering public assistance and offices primarily serving people with disabilities have a responsibility under the NVRA to provide voter registration opportunities to clients. These are known as “NVRA agencies.” NVRA agencies in California include:

- Public assistance agencies, including:
 - ▶ County offices that accept applications and administer benefits for the:
 - CalFresh program;
 - California Work Opportunity and Responsibility to Kids (CalWORKs) program;
 - Medi-Cal program; and
 - In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS) program;
 - ▶ All offices, public and private, that accept applications and administer benefits for the Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) nutrition program;
 - ▶ Individuals and organizations accepting applications for Covered California, California’s health benefit exchange.
- State-Funded Agencies Primarily Serving Persons with Disabilities, including:
 - ▶ Offices of the State Department of

SB 35 Writes NVRA Best Practices into State Law

To ensure that California agencies fully comply with the NVRA, the state legislature passed Senate Bill 35 (Padilla, 2012), which writes NVRA best practices into state law and is making the state a leader in NVRA implementation.

Under SB 35, NVRA agencies in California must:

- Notify county elections offices of each office or site in the county so that voter registration cards can be provided to those sites and properly tracked;
- Designate state and local NVRA coordinators;
- Provide an annual training for every employee who provides voter registration services;
- Offer forms in languages other than English as required by Section 203 of the federal Voting Rights Act; and
- Offer applicants an online voter preference form and a link to California Online Voter Registration if the agency offers enrollment, renewal, or change of address transactions online.

For Agency Staff

Commonly Held Misconceptions

There are many common misconceptions about registering to vote and voting. Here is the truth:

- People with disabilities often decline to register because they believe they will not be able to cast a ballot on Election Day. People with disabilities have the same right to vote as any other citizen. Federal law requires that every polling place be accessible to people with disabilities. Resources will always be on hand to assist people with visual impairments.
- People do not need to speak English in order to register to vote.
- People who have been convicted of crimes often think they are ineligible to vote. Most of the time, this is simply not true. A misdemeanor never affects your right to vote. If an individual is on probation in California, he or she can vote. If an individual has served time in prison, but is now out of prison and off parole, he or she can vote.
- People do not need to be able to read or write in order to register to vote.
- People should re-register if they have moved or changed their name.
- People often do not remember if they are registered to vote. When in doubt, register! There is no penalty for re-registering.

Remember, your responsibility is to provide voter preference forms and voter registration cards. You do not need to screen your clients for eligibility to vote. If you have questions, there are resources available. You can always contact your office's NVRA coordinator or the California Secretary of State's office.

Mailing Completed VRCs Close to an Election

The law requires you to mail completed voter registration cards within 10 days of receipt and within 5 days of receipt if close to a voter registration deadline. It is the best practice (and easy!) to mail them every day. Voter registration cards are pre-addressed and postage is prepaid.

The voter registration deadline for an election is 15 days before Election Day. If a client submits a completed voter registration card to your agency before the voter registration deadline, it is considered timely. When the voter registration deadline nears, voter registration cards should be mailed daily in an envelope with a note that identifies your agency and explains that the registration included is timely.

Voter Registration Checklist

Once a client has filled out a voter registration card (“VRC”), ask yourself:

- ☐ Does the registrant want to vote by mail?
Question 15 gives each registrant the option of becoming a permanent vote-by-mail voter. Vote-by-mail voters receive their ballots in the mail and can then return them by mail any time before the election. This gives voters an opportunity to study the ballot ahead of time and to seek assistance with filling it out if need be. If registrants want to vote at a polling location near their house on Election Day, they should leave question 15 blank.
- ☐ Does the registrant need to answer Question 16 on the VRC?
Question 16 is optional. If registrants know the address, city, or county where they previously registered, they can answer this question. If they do not, they can leave it blank.
- ☐ Does the registrant have a language preference other than English?
In the “Optional” section of the VRC, registrants can choose their language preference. If the registrant chooses one, he or she will receive a state voter guide before Election Day in that language. If the registrant does not choose one, he or she will receive a guide in English.
- ☐ Did the registrant sign the form?
Registrants must sign the VRC to finalize their registration. However, if the registrant cannot or does not have a signature, any mark will count. If the registrant uses a mark instead of a signature, you must write the registrant’s name next to the mark and then sign your name as well. The registrant may also sign his or her name with a signature stamp that is registered with the DMV.
- ☐ Did the registrant detach the receipt?
The bottom third of the VRC is a receipt for the registrant.
- ☐ Did I fill out the form for the registrant?
If you filled out the VRC on behalf of the applicant then you need to sign on the right side where it says, “Did someone help you fill out or deliver this form?” If you only checked the VRC to make sure it was complete, or just answered questions from the registrant, then you do not need to sign the form.
- ☐ Did I get the VRC in the mail on time?
The easiest way to ensure that VRCs are always mailed on time is to place them in the mail on a daily basis. Voter registration cards are self-addressed with prepaid postage and can be placed with your outgoing mail.

The voter registration deadline is 15 days before an election. When the registration deadline nears, VRCs should be mailed daily in an envelope with a cover letter or note in the envelope that identifies your agency and explains that the registration included is timely.

Frequently Asked Questions

You should be prepared to answer the following FAQs about voting:

“What if I don’t have a driver’s license, a state-issued ID, or Social Security number?”

You can register to vote even if you do not have a California ID or Social Security number as long as you meet the other eligibility requirements. Just leave those fields blank.

“Will I need an ID when I vote?”

California does not have a voter ID requirement. However, if you are voting for the first time and you did not provide your driver license number, California ID number, or the last four digits of your Social Security number when you registered to vote, you may be asked to show proof of residence when you go to the polls on Election Day. A number of documents, such as a utility bill, suffice as proof of residence. If you don’t have a government-issued ID, check with the county elections office before Election Day to determine what to bring to the polls.

“Do I need to re-register if I have moved or changed my name?”

Yes. If you have moved since you last registered, your election materials (sample ballot, etc.) will go to the wrong address and you may encounter problems at the polling location on Election Day. If you have changed your name, you should re-register with your new name in order to avoid problems on Election Day. If you wish to change your political party, you should also re-register.

“What if I don’t know if I was previously registered to vote?”

If you are unsure if you are registered to vote, simply register to vote. If you are unsure where you are registered to vote, simply register again at your current address.

“Can I be registered to vote in two counties at the same time?”

If you have moved to a new county and were registered in your previous county, you need to re-register. There is no penalty for re-registering in your new county without cancelling your previous registration. The two counties will communicate with each other, and the former county will cancel your old registration. When you have registered in your new county, you may only vote in that county. Voting twice is a felony.

“What if I need a voter registration card in a language that is not available in this office?”

You can register to vote online in ten different languages at www.registertovote.ca.gov. You may also contact your county elections office to see if they have a voter registration card in the language you need.

“Do I have to choose a political party?”

No. If you do not wish to register with a party, you should choose “No Party Preference” or leave the section blank.

“Will my polling location be accessible to people with disabilities?”

All polling locations are required by law to be accessible to people with disabilities. Additionally, all polling locations are required by law to have at least one accessible voting machine for people with disabilities. A guide to voting with a disability is available from Disability Rights California at: <http://www.disabilityrightsca.org/pubs/541201.pdf>.

“I have a criminal conviction. Can I vote?”

Only people who are currently serving a sentence for certain felony convictions are ineligible to vote. Please read the eligibility information under question 18 on the voter registration card. A person's right to vote is automatically reinstated when they have completed their sentence—re-registration is necessary, however. If you wish to know more visit the Secretary of State's website here: <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/voting-resources/new-voters/who-can-vote-california/voting-rights-californians/>.

“Will registering to vote put me in the jury pool?”

Yes. But if you are on file with the DMV for any reason, you are already in the jury pool.

“Do I need an address to register to vote?”

No. Question 6 on the voter registration card allows you to describe where you live if you do not have a formal address. You may use a P.O. box as your mailing address, but not as your home address.

“Will I get information about what is going to be on the ballot?”

Yes. You will be mailed a voter guide by your county elections office prior to Election Day. It will give you information about all of the candidates and ballot initiatives you will be voting on.

“Do I have to vote for everything?”

No. You can vote for as much or as little as you'd like on the ballot.

“Is there a penalty for not voting?”

No. It is your right to not take part in the democratic process.

For NVRA Coordinators

Responsibilities for NVRA Coordinators

An important part of your agency's ability to fulfill its voter registration requirements is designating an employee responsible for the agency's compliance with the NVRA and SB 35. This employee is known as the "NVRA coordinator."

Luckily, being an NVRA coordinator does not require adding more hours to the clock. Your responsibilities can be easily managed through regular communication with your county elections office, putting systems in place at your workplace, and training employees on how to follow those systems.

Your responsibilities as an NVRA coordinator are to:

- Confirm that the county elections office knows you are an NVRA agency and has your agency's name correct in its files.
- Inform your county elections office of all offices and sites in the county where your agency distributes voter registration cards.
 - ▶ The county elections office is not required to identify agencies with voter registration responsibilities under the NVRA; this responsibility falls on you.
 - ▶ The county elections office needs to know all the offices and sites within your agency so that it can track the number of completed voter registrations that come from each. The California Secretary of State collects all of that data and puts it into one monthly report, which can be found here: <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/voter-registration/nvra/reports/sb35-nvra-monthly-reports/>.

Best Practices Tip

Establish a relationship with the NVRA coordinator at your county elections office. Open lines of communication will make NVRA compliance much easier.

- Order voter registration cards from your county elections office only. Your county elections office should have its own NVRA coordinator that can inform you about the best way to order cards, whether by phone, email, or an online form.
- Have on hand both required forms—voter preference forms, which ask an applicant if he or she would like to register to vote and contain mandatory disclaimer language, and voter registration cards—in all languages determined by a formula in the Voting Rights Act. When in doubt about your language requirements, check page 16 of this toolkit or contact your county elections office.
- Keep in mind that the languages required for voter registration may be different from the languages required by Medi-Cal and other state programs.
- Determine a system for how voter registration cards received from applicants will be mailed to the county elections office. Please see below for further instructions.

Best Practices Tip

The California Secretary of State recommends mailing completed registration cards daily in order to avoid confusion and compliance concerns.

For NVRA Coordinators

Best Practices Tip

Many people don't know that they must re-register when they move or change their name in order to avoid problems on Election Day. Train your staff so they are prepared to inform clients of this little known fact.

- Every year, train every employee who provides voter registration opportunities to clients on the NVRA and SB 35. Training materials are available from the Secretary of State here: <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/voter-registration/nvra/training/>.
- Make sure to train new employees as they come on board. New employees may use a self-guided training. A training video is available from the Secretary of State's office here: <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/voter-registration/nvra/training/training-and-resources-nvra-agency-staff/>.
- Provide an online voter preference form and the opportunity to register to vote online if you provide the opportunity to apply for benefits or services online, recertify benefits or services online, or submit a change of address online. If the client does not answer the voter preference form question, you must mail the client a voter registration card.

Best Practices Tip

Draft an internal NVRA policy so staff always know your office's practices and have a document to refer to when they have questions.

Ordering VRCs and Submitting Completed VRCs

Order VRCs from County Elections Office Only

Voter registration cards ordered from your county elections office carry a unique serial number on the bottom right side. Your county elections office uses this number to track the voter registration cards that have been sent to each NVRA office or site. When a completed voter registration card is mailed back to the county elections office, no matter who mails the card or where it is mailed from, the county elections office can use the serial number to know which NVRA office or site to give "credit" to for the registration.

Do not order voter registration cards from the California Secretary of State or distribute the federal voter registration card.

Best Practices Tip

Each county elections office has a different process for ordering voter registration cards. Some have online order forms; others require you to send an email directly to a designated staffer in their office. Ask your county elections office to explain its procedure.

For NVRA Coordinators

Getting “Credit” for Your Office’s Registrations

Many NVRA agencies order voter registration cards at a central location and then distribute them to a network of satellite sites. This results in all registrations from all sites being credited to only the central location.

You must coordinate with your county elections office to make sure it can track the voter registration cards going to each site. There are multiple ways to do this. For example, you can order cards to a central location, distribute them to your sites as needed, and then inform the elections office which cards have gone to which sites. Or some agencies have each site order cards directly from the elections office. Ask your county elections office for its preference.

Best Practices Tip

Remember, languages required by the Voting Rights Act may be different from the languages required by Medi-Cal and other state programs.

Submit Completed Registrations on Time

When a client hands your office a completed voter registration card, you have ten days to mail it to the county elections office. A completed voter registration card is easy to mail. Voter registration cards in California are postage-paid and require no envelopes. Simply tear off the bottom third as the registrant’s receipt, fold the card in half, seal it, and drop it in the mail.

In order to vote in an election, a voter must register to vote 15 days before Election Day. When an election is getting close and it is just five days or less until the voter registration deadline, you are responsible for mailing the completed voter registration cards within five days—rather than the normal ten days—of receiving them. Since it can get confusing to have to constantly determine if a voter registration card should be mailed within five days or ten days, the Secretary of State recommends that offices drop completed voter registration cards in the mail daily. If a client submits a completed voter registration card to your agency before the voter registration deadline, it is considered timely. When the voter registration deadline nears, voter registration cards should be mailed daily in an envelope with a note that identifies your agency and explains that the registration included is timely.

Languages Other than English Under the Voting Rights Act

NVRA agencies may be required to have voter registration materials available in languages other than English. All NVRA agencies should take the following steps to ensure they are in compliance with the law.

Step 1: Determine the language requirements for your county.

The federal Voting Rights Act (VRA) sets a formula used by the Census Bureau to determine which counties must provide voting materials in which languages. Ask your county elections office what your required languages are, or consult the table on page 16. Note that the language requirements required by the VRA may be different than the languages required by Medi-Cal and other state programs.

Step 2: Ensure all of your agency’s offices or sites have both voter preference forms and voter registration cards available in the languages required for your county.

For NVRA Coordinators

Agencies must always stock voter preference forms and voter registration cards in the required languages even if they do not normally receive applications from language minorities.

- Voter registration cards will be available in all required languages from your county elections office. This is not the case for voter preference forms; those must be printed out in all required languages, and are available on the Secretary of State's website: <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/nvra/training/voter-preference-forms.htm>.

Step 3: Provide translated voter registration materials whenever a client requests services in languages other than English required for your county.

NVRA agencies should provide a translated voter preference form and voter registration card whenever a client requests services in a required language. If a client requests assistance in a language that is not required by your county, remember that the client can register to vote online in ten languages at the Secretary of State's website at www.registertovote.ca.gov.

Best Practices Tip

Check the NVRA/SB 35 reports on the Secretary of State's website monthly to see how many voters your office registered. If you think there are discrepancies, contact the NVRA coordinator at your county elections office.

Summary of How NVRA/SB 35 Tracking Works

The system for tracking NVRA voter registration cards created by SB 35 is the only way to ensure transparency and accountability in the implementation of the NVRA in California. It helps make sure that your agency's clients are being offered the opportunities to register to vote that they are owed.

Step 1: Offices accepting applications for public benefits programs and offices serving people with disabilities are called “NVRA agencies.” Each NVRA agency chooses a staff member to serve as an “NVRA coordinator.” If an agency has multiple sites or offices, each site or office should have its own NVRA coordinator. NVRA coordinators contact the county elections office to order voter registration cards in all required languages.

Step 2: The county elections office sends blank voter registration cards (VRCs) to NVRA agencies. These cards have tracking numbers on them so the county elections office will know how many completed registrations each NVRA agency is responsible for.

Step 3: NVRA agencies give VRCs to clients, and help clients fill them out when they wish to register to vote. NVRA agencies then mail completed VRCs back to the county elections office. VRCs are postage-paid.

Step 4: Each county elections office counts the number of registrations from each office/site in every NVRA agency in its county and sends a monthly report to the California Secretary of State.

Step 5: The Secretary of State is California's chief elections officer and is responsible for California's compliance with the NVRA. The Secretary of State compiles all county NVRA reports and publishes a statewide report on its website. Each month, the public can see the number of completed voter registrations generated by each NVRA agency in the state.

For NVRA Coordinators

Ensuring Your Office Receives Credit for Completed Registrations

Your county elections office submits a report each month to the Secretary of State that shows how many voters each of your agency's sites registered to vote. The report can be used as a tool to help you improve compliance. The report is available online at <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/voter-registration/nvra/reports/sb35-nvra-monthly-reports/>. When you look up a report, check for the following:

1. Make sure all of your agency's sites are listed, as required.
2. See how many voters each site registered. If you see something unusual in the report, for example if you believe your office registered more voters than are appearing in the report, contact your county elections office.
3. If you identify a site that consistently outperforms other sites, find out if there is something you can learn from that site and share with your other sites.
4. If you notice sites that consistently register fewer voters than other sites, contact or visit those sites to see if there is something they are doing differently that may explain their performance.
5. If the report lists offices for your agency that are closed or no longer exist, contact your county elections office to have them removed.

Roles & Responsibilities Created for All Relevant Parties by SB 35: A Guide for Elections Officials

SB 35 (Padilla) was signed by Governor Jerry Brown in 2012 and took effect on January 1, 2013. The bill codifies into state law many requirements of Section 7 of the National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) and makes required a number of best practices that will modernize and improve the implementation of the NVRA in California.

The purpose of this section is to outline all roles and responsibilities created by SB 35 and the NVRA for NVRA agencies, county elections officials, and the Secretary of State.

The NVRA requires the Secretary of State to designate as “NVRA agencies” all (1) “public assistance” offices, (2) “state-funded programs primarily engaged in providing services to persons with disabilities,” (3) armed forces recruiting offices, and (4) other offices as chosen by the Secretary of State. (52 U.S.C. § 20506.)

NVRA agencies must:

- Provide clients with a voter preference form and voter registration card upon every application for benefits or services, renewal of benefits or services, and change of address. Unless a client declines to register to vote on the voter preference form, the NVRA agency must provide the same level of assistance in filling out the voter registration card that it provides for filling out its other forms.
- Identify an employee who is responsible for the agency’s compliance with the NVRA and SB 35, commonly known as an “NVRA coordinator.” The Secretary of State recommends that an agency with multiple sites in a county designate an NVRA coordinator at each site.
- Inform their county elections official of all offices and sites within the county that accept applications for benefits or services, renewals of benefits or services, and changes of address.
 - County elections officials are not required by law to identify all NVRA agencies in their counties; this responsibility falls on the NVRA agencies themselves. County elections officials may be proactive in this regard if they wish to bring their county into full NVRA compliance more quickly.
- Order voter registration cards from their county elections office.
- Have voter preference forms and voter registration cards on hand in all languages determined by a formula in Section 203 of the Voting Rights Act.
- Mail all completed voter registration cards to their county elections officials within 10 days of receiving them. When close to a voter registration deadline mail all completed voter registration cards within five days. To avoid confusion, the Secretary of State recommends that voter registration cards be mailed daily.
- Train annually every employee who provides voter registration opportunities to clients on NVRA and SB 35 requirements.
- Provide the opportunity for clients to register to vote online if the agency provides the opportunity to apply for benefits or services online, recertify benefits or services online, or submit change of address online.

For Elections Officials

County elections offices must:

- Designate an NVRA coordinator responsible for coordinating with the Secretary of State and with NVRA agencies in the county to administer voter registration responsibilities under the NVRA.
- Provide voter registration cards to NVRA agencies upon request.
- Maintain a record of the number of voter registration cards provided to and received from each office/site in each NVRA agency in the county.
- Some agencies have an arrangement with the Secretary of State whereby they receive state voter registration cards instead of county voter registration cards. In those cases, the Secretary of State will periodically email your office with serial numbers issued to those agencies. You must track those serial numbers and create a line item in your SB 35 report for those agencies.
- Report the number of voter registration cards received from each office/site in each NVRA agency in the county to the Secretary of State within 10 days of the start of each month.
- Submit a second report grouping all registrations into one of five categories to the Secretary of State, which the Secretary of State compiles in a biennial report to the federal Elections Assistance Commission.
 - ▶ The five categories are: public assistance agencies, state-funded agencies serving people with disabilities, armed forces recruitment offices, other agencies designated by the State under the NVRA, and an “unable to distinguish” category.
- Assist NVRA agencies with training, upon request.

- Protect the confidentiality of the NVRA agency through which a voter registered to vote and ensure its identity is not disclosed to the public.
- Accept as timely any completed registration that is received by an NVRA agency on or before the 15-day voter registration deadline.

Secretary of State must:

- Ensure that California follows the NVRA.
 - ▶ The Secretary of State is California’s statewide NVRA coordinator and is ultimately responsible for California’s compliance with the NVRA.
- Prepare training materials that describe the responsibilities of county elections officials and NVRA agencies, and communicate to relevant parties best practices for complying with SB 35 and the NVRA. (Available at: <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/voter-registration/nvra/>.)
- Contact NVRA agencies that are not complying with the requirements of SB 35.
- Post monthly reports online detailing the number of registrations produced by each office/site in each NVRA agency in California. (Available at: <http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/voter-registration/nvra/reports/sb35-nvra-monthly-reports/>.) The Secretary of State is also required to report data to the federal Election Assistance Commission.

Best Practices for Tracking NVRA Registrations

This section identifies best practices for establishing and operating a system that can track voter registration cards received from NVRA agencies.

Best Practices for Operating a SB 35 Tracking System

- To reduce workload for county elections staff, county elections offices can create online forms that enable NVRA agencies to easily and quickly order voter registration cards in all required languages. Orange County has a highly effective online form, displayed on page 23.
 - To reduce workload for county elections staff and to streamline NVRA compliance, county elections offices should utilize the full power of their voter databases when tracking voter registration cards sent to NVRA agencies. See San Bernardino County as an example, explained in detail on pages 24-27.
 - County elections offices should maintain lists of all NVRA coordinators (i.e. the voter registration point people at NVRA agencies) in their counties, along with their contact information. Periodically contact the NVRA agencies in your county to keep the list of coordinators current.
 - ▶ While the law requires NVRA agencies to make themselves known to county
- elections officials, in practice this often does not happen. Many county elections offices research NVRA agencies in their counties (see pages 28-29) and do proactive outreach.
- County elections offices should host annual workshops on NVRA compliance. A single workshop can be held for all NVRA coordinators in the county, or separate workshops can be held by agency type to better address specific needs and concerns.
 - Many NVRA agencies have a central office with a network of satellite sites. County elections offices must track the voter registration cards that go to each satellite site. This can be done in one of several ways:
 - ▶ By having an NVRA coordinator at each site request voter registration cards for their site;
 - ▶ By having an NVRA coordinator at a central office order cards for all sites, distribute them to individual offices/sites as needed, then inform the county elections office which cards were sent to which sites;
 - ▶ By having an NVRA coordinator at a central office order cards for all sites, distribute them to individual offices/sites as needed, and then have the individual offices/sites inform the county elections office of which cards they have received (as in San Bernardino County, illustrated on pages 24-27).
 - NVRA agencies have slightly different responsibilities when close to an election. County elections offices should send a notice to the NVRA agencies in their counties informing them of election deadlines for regular and special elections as they approach.

For Elections Officials

Example: Orange County Voter Registration Card Order Form

The Orange County Registrar of Voters office hosts an order form for voter registration cards on its website. The form allows for users to order voter registration cards in all required languages in Orange County without submitting multiple requests. The form can be used by any member of the public, but requires NVRA agencies to identify themselves to make NVRA tracking easier for the Registrar.

For Elections Officials

Example: San Bernardino County NVRA Tracking & Data Management System

The San Bernardino County Elections Office operates its database of voters using the DIMS system. With minimal effort, San Bernardino County uses DIMS to track the voter registration cards sent to each site or office in an NVRA agency, how many have been returned, and when each NVRA agency in the county is running low and in need of replenishment.

The San Bernardino County Elections Office gets from DIMS a monthly report of NVRA registrations in the county and, because of careful planning by the Elections Office's IT department, this report is generated in exactly the same format as the monthly report the Elections Office must submit to the Secretary of State. The submission of that report is simply a matter of copying and pasting by the Elections Office's internal NVRA coordinator. The San Bernardino County Elections Office estimates that tracking NVRA registrations across the county takes 90 minutes per month.

The screenshots below illustrate how San Bernardino County's NVRA tracking system works. Contact information for the San Bernardino County Elections Office is at the bottom of page 27. Its staff is happy to field questions and requests for assistance.

Voter Registration Card Inventory

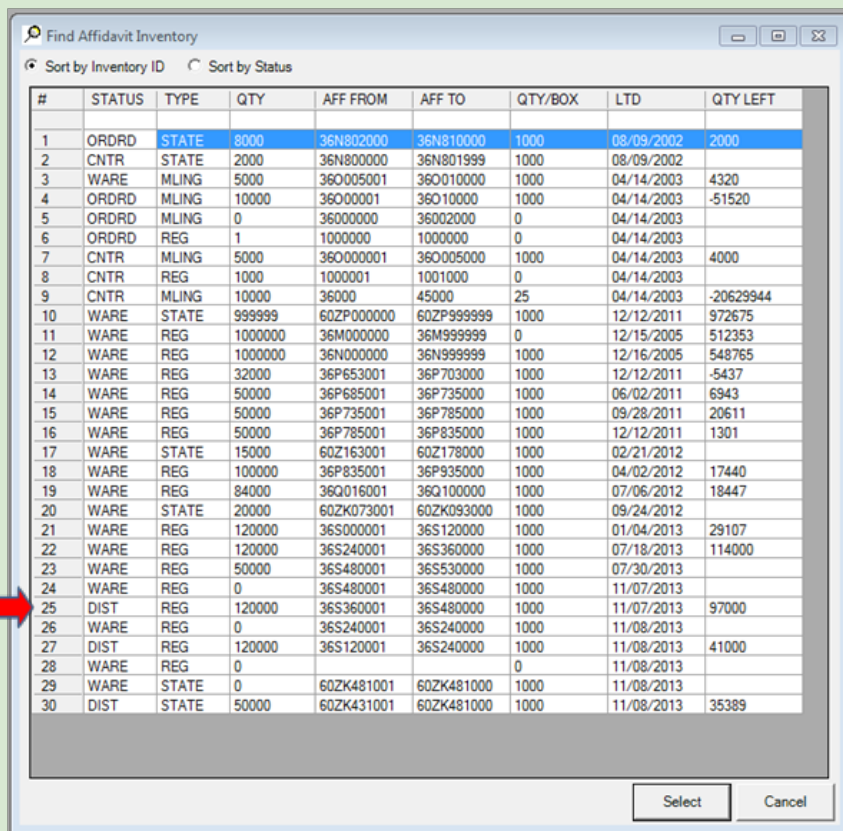

This screenshot shows the San Bernardino County Elections Office's inventory of blank voter registration cards. Line 25 contains the following information:

- the Office has distributed 120,000 voter registration cards (see column 3)
- carrying serial numbers 36S360001 through 36S480000 (see columns 4 and 5),
- in boxes of 1,000 voter registration cards each (see column 6),
- on November 7, 2013 (see column 7).

(The San Bernardino County Elections Office notes that some dates displayed here are in the process of being corrected.)

Column 8 is an automatically updating number. Precisely 120,000 cards were distributed to a central warehouse of San Bernardino's social services agency, which oversees a variety of social services programs. Whenever an individual office or site within the agency receives a box of cards from the central warehouse, it sends the San Bernardino County Elections Office a form (see Voter Registration Card Received Form, page 27) indicating the serial numbers of the cards now in its possession. The San Bernardino County Elections Office notes in its NVRA tracking system that the cards are now possessed by an individual office or site, and an equivalent number of cards is automatically deducted from column 8 on this screen.

Thus, column 8 of line 25 indicates that the social services agency warehouse still has 97,000 cards, and has distributed 23,000 to individual offices and sites around the county.

Individual “Account Holder” Profile

(Tab 2: Attributes/Flags/History)

The second tab identifies the type of agency. The drop-down options are: public assistance, disability, armed forces, or other. These options track with the monthly report that must be submitted to the Secretary of State, enabling the monthly report to be automatically generated.

Individual “Account Holder” Profile

(Tab 3: Affidavit Ranges)

When the San Bernardino County Elections Office receives notice that an individual NVRA office or site has received a box of voter registration cards from a central location, the NVRA coordinator at the San Bernardino County Elections Office clicks on the third tab of the “Account Holder” profile and enters the range of serial numbers the individual NVRA office or site has received. If the numbers entered are a duplicate of numbers entered for another office, the system will produce an error message.

The screenshot to the left indicates that the Mass Ave. location of the San Bernardino social services agency received 2,000 cards on 12/03/2013 and 5,000 cards on 11/08/2013.

Once a certain number of voter registration cards are entered in an “Account Holder” profile like this one, the corresponding line in column 8 on the screenshot shown on page 24 will automatically decrease by an equal number.

Voter Registration Card Log

TAD District: San Bernardino (District 02) Month/Year: Dec2013

Voter Registration Cards (SBDNOES) come in boxes of 1,000, please list each box separately.

Date Received	Voter Registration Card Number Range		Office Assistant(OA) Name
	From	To
11/19/13	36 S 431001	36 S 432000	Kristy Doman
11/19/13	36 S 430001	36 S 431000	Kristy Doman

On the first working day of the month designated staff will email the log for the previous month to the:

- Registrar of Voters (ROV) at voterregistrations@sbcountyelections.com, and
- District Primary and Back Up contacts.

Voter Registration Card Received Form

The NVRA coordinators at all social services offices and sites have been trained to submit the form at left to the San Bernardino County Elections Office whenever they receive blank voter registration cards from their central office.

On November 19, 2013, the social services office in District 02 received two boxes of 1,000 blank voter registration cards from the social services centralized warehouse. The form below was filled out by the NVRA coordinator in the office, and then emailed to voterregistrations@sbcountyelections.com.

Automatically Generated Monthly Reports

DIMS automatically generates a monthly report for San Bernardino County detailing how many completed voter registrations have been received from each NVRA office or site. (Screenshot from that report, left.) This report is generated in the same format that the Secretary of State requires for its monthly report; as a result, submitting the SOS report is simply a matter of copying, pasting, and emailing.

If a generic voter registration card is received by the San Bernardino County Elections Office (i.e. it has no serial number), but the NVRA coordinator in the San Bernardino County Elections Office knows the NVRA office from which the card came, the NVRA coordinator attaches a sticker with a new serial number and credit is given to the appropriate office.

Effectively Tracking NVRA/SB 35 Registrations Can Take Very Little Time

The San Bernardino County Elections Office reports that tracking NVRA voter registrations, using the system described here, takes less than 90 minutes per month. Depending on the number of blank voter registration cards being distributed in any particular month, data entry into DIMS takes 15 to 60 minutes per month. Generating a monthly report, copying and pasting it into the Secretary of State's spreadsheet, and emailing it to the Secretary of State takes 15-20 minutes per month.

The San Bernardino County Elections Office would be happy to field questions about its system. For more information, contact the internal NVRA coordinator, who developed and operates the system described here. Contact: Terry D. Kouba, Chief Deputy Registrar for Operations, (909) 387-2101, tkouba@rov.sbcounty.gov.

NVRA Agencies: How They Are Organized and How to Find Them

SB 35 (Padilla, 2012) requires county elections officials to maintain a record of voter registration cards sent to and received from agencies designated as NVRA agencies. This document outlines which agencies, offices, service providers, and nonprofit entities qualify as NVRA agencies.

While it is the legal responsibility of NVRA agencies to make themselves known to their county elections office, the Secretary of State recommends that county elections offices proactively identify and reach out to the NVRA agencies that exist within their counties.

Federal Law

The NVRA places voter registration responsibilities on (1) government “public assistance” agencies/offices, (2) government agencies/offices “providing services to persons with disabilities,” (3) armed services recruitment offices, and (4) other agencies/offices as designated by the Secretary of State. (52 U.S.C. § 20506.) In California, the fourth category includes district offices of the Franchise Tax Board and the Board of Equalization.

State law

California state law mandates that any entity “under contract” with an NVRA agency with voter registration responsibilities also shares those responsibilities. (Cal. Elec. Code. § 2401(b)(2).) Most frequently, this impacts nonprofits, community groups, and individual practitioners that provide mental health services or alcohol/drug programming under contract with county departments, and nonprofits and community groups that administer Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) programs. This also applies to Regional Centers and Independent Living Centers.

Definitions

“Public assistance” agencies are:

- County offices that accept applications and administer benefits for:
 - ▶ CalFresh program;
 - ▶ California Work Opportunity and Responsibility to Kids (CalWORKs) program;
 - ▶ Medi-Cal program; and
 - ▶ In-Home Supportive Services (IHSS) program;
- All offices, public and private, that accept applications and administer benefits for the Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) nutrition program;
- Individuals and organizations accepting applications for Covered California, California’s health benefit exchange.

Agencies “providing services to persons with disabilities” are defined as:

- Offices of the State Department of Rehabilitation
- Independent Living Centers
- Regional Centers
- Dept. of Social Services, Office of Deaf Access
- State and County Mental Health Providers

For Elections Officials

These agencies may have different names depending on what county they are located in. For example, public assistance services are provided at the county level by departments variously named Human Services, Social Services, Transitional Assistance, and other titles. Mental health services are often provided through Behavioral Health departments. In-Home Supportive Services can be housed at a department called Aging and Independence Services or Adult Protective Services, or at a generalized social services department. WIC programs are often run by hospitals, nonprofits and community groups, colleges, and community health centers, all of which have the same NVRA responsibilities of an office run directly by county government.

There are a number of ways to identify the NVRA agencies in your county.

Start by looking at your existing list of NVRA agencies. Try emailing or sending a letter to those agencies, addressed to the NVRA coordinators, asking them to confirm where they have sites in the county and who their current NVRA coordinator is.

Local agencies can also be found online. Most of these agencies have a centralized office whose website has a locator tool to find service providers in the 58 counties in California. For example, a search of the Department for Developmental Services website will yield a “Lookup Regional Centers by County” tool [<http://www.dds.ca.gov/RC/RCLookup.cfm>]. If you find agencies that you believe are NVRA agencies that are not having their registrations tracked by site, try sending a letter or email addressed to the NVRA coordinator at the office.

Once you have identified the offices in your county who you believe are NVRA agencies, consider hosting a training or workshop for those agencies’ NVRA coordinators. This way you can train all of the NVRA coordinators at once, and give the agencies the information they need to properly register voters. Contact the Secretary of State’s NVRA coordinator (nvra@sos.ca.gov) or the ACLU (voting@acluca.org) for more information on how to host an NVRA workshop.

In Conclusion: Thank you!

Thank you for all your hard work to ensure full and accurate NVRA compliance in your county. This is an excellent means of maintaining accurate and up-to-date voter rolls and a cost effective way to expand voter registration!
